

Flexible Accelerators for Physical Layer Processing

Abstract of the Invention

Flexible, micro-coded accelerators are applied to perform physical layer processing in communications applications. The accelerators are reconfigurable and may be programmed to incorporate new protocols as they are introduced.

DC2/#525545